

Women's Advocate's: How may we help you?

If you are a woman who is faced with a challenge that is bigger than you can handle alone such as relationship conflict, abuse, or addiction, Women's Advocates is here for you.

If you have grown weary of struggling, or have given up trying, if you have been reluctant to approach the church leadership for assistance, why not reach out to Women's Advocates?

Of course, not every serious circumstance you are faced with will require the involvement of the church leadership. In that case, Women's Advocates will seek to help connect you to the appropriate resources to address the needs at hand.

Our primary purpose is to walk alongside you as you seek Jesus to mend your brokenness with the assistance of the Elders to guide you. If you feel that it would be helpful to have an Advocate accompany you through the process, we will be there to help ensure clear communication between you and the church leadership. We partner with you to seek the best possible outcome for the situation that needs attention.

Not sure if Women's Advocates could be helpful in your situation? You can leave a message in the Advocates' voicemail box at 410-544-5013 Ext. 5, or send a confidential email to womensadvocates@spchurch.org and we will be glad to discuss how we might be of assistance to you.

Current Women's Advocates

Ree Burroughs

Christiane Carlson-Thies

Trisha Castro

Karen Crout

Carol Diachenko

Susan Fleming

Rita Kesner

Mimi Schwarz

Cindy Wolverton